PUBLIC PARTICIPATION

Gerald Feder

Speaking about the strip mall where a liquor license is being requested and his opposition. Disseminated a picture which depicts his apartments and it is 34 feet from where they are wanting to put a sports bar.

He has been in business for 54 years of renting apartments in Belleville, Shiloh and surroundings areas. This is the wrong location...there is not enough parking for a sports bar. They have four other businesses at that location plus a car wash. The building has 1300 square feet which is not the amount that was stated on the application. He is wondering if they have restrooms for men and women. He is wondering how many people are allowed. It would be better located one block away at the old Sears store.

He owns two properties next to Cutters and he knows the problems he had there in their heyday (not today).

This building is built over a power easement. Some neighbors were afraid to come tonight due to retaliation by opposition to the business. This is the wrong location for a sports bar.

Larry Thomas

He is the applicant for the sports bar at 1913 North Belt East. There is plenty of parking, he has been approved through the owners to have it there, there is extra parking. There has been a pizza restaurant, bbq stand etc. This is zoned commercial. This will be revenue for the city. This is a sports bar; therefore, you will not hear loud music. There will not be a DJ and is not a club environment.

Discussion...

Alderman Elmore stated he was in attendance at the Zoning meeting and several issues were addressed. (1) there is no viable solution for the parking; (2) to the left of the building there is a double sewer main; (3) concerns from a business owner; (4) there are residential apartments; and (5) smokers will have to go outside and would literally be standing in the parking lot. He is in favor of sports bars and would like to see another one in Belleville; however, he has great concern with a sports bar trying to be quiet.

Alderman Weygandt stated the residents behind are long time residents and they are in opposition. He received numerous calls from residents on Orchard Drive that are against the sports bar.

Mayor Eckert stated when the variance process was put in place in 2006 it was for the purpose of neighborhood taverns that were sold. This variance was put in place to let people have a voice. Mayor Eckert stated he is not hearing no to Mr. Thomas but to the location.

Alderman Wigginton stated anyone that goes into business is to make money. The sports bars that he has seen are relatively large with a large amount of parking and is a volume type of operation. He does not want to set Mr. Thomas up for failure. This is a small store front with no parking.

Alderman Anthony asked if the Zoning Board approved the request; Mayor Eckert stated yes 4-1.

Alderman Kinsella stated he did a drive by and it is not a single residence it is an apartment building. He is in favor of a sports bar but not at this location.

C. Other Civil Cases. The City currently has pending the following other civil cases in which I am representing the City:

1. Rehkemper v. City of Belleville, et al. This is a case filed against the City for damage because of leakage from the prior Belleville municipal landfill. The insurance company has declined coverage, because its policy was not in effect at the time of this incident. We have turned in a claim to our prior insurance company. This case is being defended by the attorney who was hired by our first insurance company. Both insurance companies have denied coverage. Based upon the pending settlement of this matter, this case is nearly concluded.
2. Orchards Homeowners Association of Belleville v. City of Belleville. On April 22, 2015, Plaintiff filed a Complaint against the City alleging a breach-of-contract theory related to an IDNR Permit for the construction of improvements to an unnamed tributary of loop creek. On October 29, 2015, after the Court denied the City's Motion to Dismiss, I filed an Answer and Affirmative Defenses. The parties are proceeding with discovery.

3. Larry Price v. City of Belleville. On March 8, 2017, Plaintiff filed a Complaint for Injunctive and Declaratory Relief against the City, specifically alleging a violation of the Illinois Freedom of Information Act (5 ILCS 140/1 et seq.). On April 24, 2017, the City filed a Motion to Dismiss, which was heard on July 6, 2017. On August 2, 2017, the Court granted the City's Motion to Dismiss, thereby dismissing the case with prejudice. Because Plaintiff did not appeal, this matter is now concluded.

There are other lawsuits being handled through the City's insurance company.

- D. Other Miscellaneous Cases. In addition to the above cases, there are a number of cases where the City is named as a Defendant in mortgage foreclosure lawsuits. The City is named as a Defendant because of municipal liens. These liens are typically extinguished in the foreclosure action. It is doubtful if the City will collect any of the amounts liened from these cases. There are also a number of cases where the City has filed proof of claims in Bankruptcy Court. These proof of claims are normally for sewer or trash charges and, in most cases, the City is unable to collect on any of these.

How TNR Reduces Nuisance Complaints: What the Research Tells Us

Trap-neuter-return (TNR) is the only humane and effective way to reduce the number of community cats (also known as feral or ownerless, free-roaming cats). With TNR, community cats are humanely trapped, evaluated and spayed or neutered by a licensed veterinarian, ear-tipped to show they've been sterilized, vaccinated against rabies and distemper,<sup>1</sup> and then returned to their original outdoor homes to live out their lives. Done properly, TNR is effective at humanely managing and reducing the population of community cats, and offers the additional benefit of reducing nuisance complaints. The surgical sterilization of cats (spaying females and neutering males) eliminates the production of the hormones estrogen and testosterone, which reduces the likelihood of various mating-related behaviors (yowling, fighting, spraying, etc.) that lead to such complaints.

Please see the statements and studies below for compelling evidence that TNR reduces nuisance complaints.

Reviews and general statements

- According to researchers with the Alliance for Contraception in Cats & Dogs (ACC&D), “It seems to be widely accepted that male cats will be less likely to roam, urine spray, vocalize, and fight when they are sterilized.” Summarizing their review of the relevant research, the authors of a 2013 report from ACC&D write: “Credible studies indicate that neutering reduces urine spraying and roaming in search of mates by male cats, and spaying eliminates estrous-associated behaviors in female cats, including aggression, vocalization and perhaps efforts to escape outdoors in order to mate.” [1]
- As the Humane Society of the United States explains in Managing Community Cats: A Guide for Municipal Leaders, published in cooperation with the International City/County Management Association, “community-wide TNR programs are effective” in part because they “decrease nuisance complaints by eliminating or dramatically reducing noise from cat fighting and mating and odor from unneutered male cats spraying urine to mark their territory.” [2]
- A 1996 “review (of) currently understood reasons for the problem of overpopulation and animal control measures, including sterilization, legislation, and education” points out various benefits of TNR programs, including a reduction in the kinds of behaviors that can lead to nuisance complaints: “Sterilize and release ... programs not only address the overpopulation issue by preventing new litters, but also serve to reduce roaming, spraying of urine, and fighting among the cats.” [3]

Specific case studies

- TNR efforts in Harrington, Delaware, where 550 cats (93 percent of the pre-trapping count) were sterilized and vaccinated, resulted in a 98 percent reduction in the number of nuisance calls. [4]
- Researchers studying the impacts of a TNR program on the Texas A&M University campus over a two-year period reported that the program “generally has been viewed as a success by the veterinary faculty and the university’s pest control service.” And “based on the decrease in the number of complaints ... those (cats) who remain are less of a nuisance than previously they were.” [5]
- A 2002 paper published in the Journal of Applied Animal Welfare Science documents the impact of Orange County (Florida) Animal Services’ TNR program, launched in 1995: “Complaints have decreased gradually, and only rarely has it been necessary to move colonies.... Despite the change broadening the definition of a nuisance complaint in the last 2 years, complaints decreased in FY 2000/2001. There were no changes in procedure or code to account for this decrease.” [6]

- A two-year University of Florida study, reported in The Veterinary Journal, documented a 66 percent decrease in shelter intake of cats from a “target” ZIP code in Alachua County, Florida, as compared to a 12 percent decrease in the rest of the county. According to the study, “The reduction in intake was most likely to be due to several factors, including a decrease in kitten births via neutering, decreased nuisance behavior associated with breeding and territorial defense, and creation of alternatives to impoundment.” [7]
- In Sanders County, Montana, cat-related calls to the only animal shelter in the county declined 84 percent (from 1,032 in 2009 to 166 in 2011) following the implementation of an intensive TNR campaign. [2]
- In Wichita Falls, Texas, community cat-related complaint calls to Wichita Falls Animal Control declined more than 90 percent (from 1,958 in 2010 to fewer than 200 in 2012) following the implementation of an intensive TNR campaign. [2]
- Documenting the results of their one-year observational study in “an urban region of Israel,” researchers reported “lower rates of aggressive interactions among cats in the neutered groups” and “also found that almost no neutered-neutered agonistic male encounters took place.” The results, published in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association, led the authors to speculate: “The decreased agonistic behavior of the neutered male cats relative to unneutered males may result in decreased cat fighting and vocalizations and thus may lead to fewer injuries and decreased disease transmission among cats and decreased noise disturbance for their human neighbors.” [8] (Note: The anticipated decrease in disease transmission has been documented elsewhere. [9-11])
- Neighborhood Cats, based in New York City and one of the country’s most highly regarded TNR groups, was founded “when a few neighbors on the Upper West Side of Manhattan TNR’d a colony of approximately 30 cats living in the courtyard of one square block.” Adoptions of kittens meant fewer cats in the area, and “once the nuisance behavior abated, residents of adjacent apartment buildings more readily accepted the cats’ presence.” [12]
- Among the positive results of a three-year TNR program at the Gillis W. Long Hansen’s Disease Center in Carville, Louisiana, was a reduction in the kinds of vocalizations that can lead to nuisance complaints: “Although differences in vocalization are difficult to measure directly, unwanted noise from cats fighting and from mating calls was commonly heard during nocturnal visits to the cats’ living areas before the study. Three years later, nocturnal vocalizing had been greatly reduced and was not detected by the authors at any time during the three-year census.” [13]

Trap-Neuter-Return Effectively Stabilizes and Reduces Feral Cat Populations

Trap-Neuter-Return (TNR), which involves humanely trapping stray and feral cats and having them vaccinated, spayed/neutered, and "eartipped"* before returning them to their outdoor home, is the only effective method of stabilizing outdoor cat colonies. As a result of TNR, the birth of new kittens in the colony slows down and eventually ends when all the cats are spayed/neutered. In addition, socialized cats and kittens are spayed/neutered and then often put up for adoption, causing an immediate reduction in the population size.

The following case studies demonstrate that TNR successfully stabilizes and reduces feral cat populations around the world—everywhere from South African university campuses to urban Chicago blocks.

* The word "eartip" describes when a small portion of the tip of a feral cat's left ear is surgically removed while the cat is anesthetized to denote that the cat has been neutered and vaccinated. Eartipping is the most effective way to identify neutered feral cats from a distance, to make sure they are not trapped and do not undergo surgery a second time.

Trap-Neuter-Return at Texas A&M University Effectively Stabilizes Feral Cat Colonies

In a 2002 study published in the Journal of Applied Animal Welfare Science, Kathy Hughes and Margaret R. Slater document the success of a Trap-Neuter-Return program on the campus of Texas A&M University, looking at the changes between the implementation year and the following year. In the first year, 123 cats were trapped, compared with 35 in the second year.<sup>1</sup>

Over the course of the program, 32 cats and kittens were adopted. In the second year, no litters or nursing mothers were seen. While the study did not measure the change in the total number of cats on campus over the two-year period, the researchers noted: the decrease in cats needing to be trapped from the previous year; the adoption of socialized campus cats and kittens into homes; and a decrease in the number of calls concerning cats on college property.

Findings: TNR can stabilize large feral cat colonies quickly—often in as little as a year.

University of Central Florida Trap-Neuter-Return Program Considerably Reduces Feral Cat Population

A 2003 study published in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association found that TNR keeps cat colonies stable and healthy year after year. The 11-year study on the University of Central Florida campus observed the number of cats on campus decline by 66%, with no new kittens born after the first four years of operation.<sup>2</sup>

At the end of the study, most of the remaining cats were adults: 83% had been part of the program for more than six years, indicating a healthy lifespan for feral cats after TNR.

Findings: TNR keeps feral cat colonies stable and healthy in both the short-term and the long-term.

In Trap-Neuter-Return programs, feral cats are returned to their outdoor homes after they are spayed/neutered, vaccinated, and ear-tipped by a veterinarian.

Trap-Neuter-Return Significantly Reduces North Carolina Cat Colony Size After Two Years

In a 2004 study in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association, researchers observed neutered feral cat colonies and intact feral cat colonies in North Carolina and found that TNR stabilizes colonies and causes population decline over time. All six neutered feral cat colonies in the study decreased in population during the first two years of study, with a mean decrease of 36%, and continue to decline. During the same two years, the three control colonies significantly increased in size, with a mean increase of 47%.<sup>3</sup>

Findings: Feral cat colonies that go through TNR decrease in size, while colonies that are left unneutered increase in size.

Neutering Significantly Impacts Populations in South African University Colonies

A 2011 study in Journal of Applied Animal Welfare Science looks at the populations of feral cats at eight sites across five campuses of a South African university. The study provides a snapshot of colonies with different levels of sterilization and colony management, showing what managed colonies look like at one moment in time. Based on their observations, the researchers provide projections as to what would happen to the population over the course of the next five years, depending on the percentage of the cats who are neutered. At 0% neutering, the population would double. At 100% neutering, the population would be cut in half. The population would stabilize with 55% neutering. This shows how different percentages of cats neutered effect a population.<sup>4</sup>

Contrary to the figure often quoted, it is not necessary to have a 75% or higher level of neutering. In this study's population, having 60% of the cats neutered shows a decline.

Findings: Even if you can't spay/neuter every feral cat right away, you can make a difference by spaying/neutering as many as possible.

Washington, D.C. Cat Colony Stabilized and Eventually Reduced to Zero

A colony of feral cats in the Adams Morgan neighborhood of Washington, D.C. was eventually reduced to zero as a result of a Trap-Neuter-Return program. This colony was the reason Alley Cat Allies was formed as an organization in 1990, just a few months after the co-founders began helping the caregivers carry out a formal program to help the 54 cats.

Caregivers and newly recruited volunteers implemented TNR for the colony, taming kittens and placing them in adoptive homes, and returning adult cats back to the colony after they were spayed/neutered and vaccinated. In addition to stabilizing the population, spaying/neutering the cats ended behaviors associated with mating including fighting and roaming, making the cats less noticeable. The health of the cats also improved. By November 1997, just seven years after the TNR program started, only six cats remained in the alley. The last cat from the colony died in 2007 at age 17.

Findings: TNR allows cats to live out their natural, long lives content and healthy in their outdoor homes, and can eventually reduce colonies to zero through adoption of socialized cats and kittens and natural attrition.

Trap-Neuter-Return Humanely Stabilized and Reduced in Size the Merrimack River Colony

More than 300 stray and feral cats lived along the Merrimack River in Newburyport, Mass. in 1990. The city brought a private trapping company in to trap and kill some of the cats. Thirty cats were killed; but within two years, those cats had been replaced by 30 more cats who joined the colony. When cats are removed from an area, there is a vacuum effect—other cats quickly move in to take advantage of newly available resources, and they breed back to capacity.

In 1992, the Merrimack River Feline Rescue Society started a Trap-Neuter-Return program for the cats on the waterfront. The TNR program stabilized the colony and resulted in a decline in population.<sup>5</sup> Zorro, the last remaining cat from the colony, passed away in 2009 at age 16. Natural attrition is the normal evolution of TNR.

Findings: Catching and killing cats creates a vacuum and the population rebounds quickly. TNR is the only effective method for stabilizing and eventually reducing feral cat colonies, even for large, long-standing colonies.

Bay Area Colony Reduced by More than Half Through Trap-Neuter-Return

In 2004, approximately 175 feral cats were living along a popular hiking and biking trail in Foster City, Calif. in the San Francisco Bay Area. The City of Foster City, the Homeless Cat Network, and the community decided to join forces to humanely stabilize this colony of cats, and Project Bay Cat was formed. The Homeless Cat Network's volunteers undertook an intensive TNR effort, with two private veterinary hospitals providing spay/neuter and vaccinations for the cats.

As of 2013, 95% of the cats living along the trail were spayed/neutered, and the colony reduced by 53% through natural attrition and adoption of socialized stray cats and

Findings: When communities come together to support TNR, cats are protected and stabilized.

Trap-Neuter-Return at Atlantic City Boardwalk Reduces Colony Size Over Time

In 2000, Alley Cat Allies launched the Boardwalk Cats Project, a Trap-Neuter-Return program for the cats living around the boardwalk in Atlantic City, N.J. Alley Cat Allies teamed up with Atlantic City's Health Department, the Humane Society of Atlantic City, and local advocates to begin the highly successful TNR program that stabilized the colonies of feral cats living at the boardwalk. Many of the cats trapped were young kittens or cats socialized enough to be put up for adoption. The rest were returned to the boardwalk sporting eartips indicating that they were neutered and vaccinated. As TNR took effect, births of new kittens at the boardwalk gradually ceased. When the program started, there were approximately 275 cats living around the boardwalk. As a result of the program, no kittens have been born at the boardwalk in over a decade and the population size has significantly decreased through natural attrition and adoption. Alley Cat Allies' recent census reports that the number of cats living at the boardwalk has decreased to 127.

The Boardwalk Cats Project receives outspoken support from Atlantic City's local government, as well as many local businesses along the boardwalk. The public has also responded positively to the program, which attracts tourists year-round.

Findings: When people learn how positive TNR programs are for cats and communities, the programs receive widespread support and community members are willing to volunteer or donate to support the program.

Trap-Neuter-Return Decreases a Chicago Neighborhood's Cat Population by More Than Half

In 2007, a group in Chicago called Cats In My Yard started carefully tracking its Trap-Neuter-Return efforts and the number of cats living in 19 colonies. The colonies are all close together and contained within one large city block bordered by busy main streets. Between 2007 and 2013, 153 cats in the 19 colonies went through TNR. In 2013, a total of 70 cats remained in these colonies. In seven years, the cat population in this neighborhood decreased by 55%.<sup>7</sup>

Findings: TNR programs effectively stabilize feral cat colonies and reduce them in size over time—from small groups of volunteers to large-scale, citywide TNR programs.

Rome Trap-Neuter-Return Program Consistently Decreases Colony Size

A 2006 study in Preventative Veterinary Medicine that documents the cat population over years in a well-established Trap-Neuter-Return program in Rome, Italy determines the long-term program significantly reduced feral cat colony size. From 1991 to 2000, nearly 100 cats were neutered and returned to their colony locations. The study spanned 103 colonies of outdoor cats. Colony size consistently decreased over the time period, ranging from a decline in population in colonies three years into the program, to a 32% decrease in colonies after six years.<sup>8</sup>

Findings: Large-scale, scientific studies show that TNR consistently decreases colony size.

Chicago's Trap-Neuter-Return Program Significantly Reduces Colony Size in 23 Zip Codes

A countywide TNR program in Cook County, Ill., which includes Chicago, reduced the size of feral cat colonies in 23 zip codes by 41% in just five years. A coalition of private nonprofits that carries out TNR in Cook County compared the number of cats in 23 zip codes before they started TNR and the number approximately five years after. In November 2007, there were 1,329 cats in the 23 zip codes. At the end of 2012, there were only 788.<sup>9</sup> The colonies were stabilized through TNR, and reduced in size through adoption of socialized cats and kittens and natural attrition. In 2007, Cook County passed legislation that created a formal structure for a countywide TNR program, with private nonprofit organizations assuming the responsibility for managing feral cat colonies. From 2008 to 2012, more than 17,538 feral cats in Cook County were spayed/neutered, vaccinated, eartipped, and returned to their outdoor colonies through this program.<sup>10</sup> The nonprofit coalition estimates that the program has prevented the births of tens of thousands of kittens.

Findings: Even in large-scale TNR programs that span multiple zip codes, colony size is significantly reduced across the board.

This 2014 Law & Policy Brief shows that a huge—and growing—number of local governments nationwide have officially embraced Trap-Neuter-Return for outdoor cats. Alley Cat Allies' legal team reviewed hundreds of municipal and county codes and animal control policy statements, finding that more than 430 governments had official policies supporting TNR. That number continues to rise.

U.S. Public Opinion on Humane Treatment of Stray Cats

An overwhelming majority of Americans believe that leaving a stray cat outside to live out his life is more humane than having him caught and killed, according to a nationally representative survey conducted for Alley Cat Allies by Harris Interactive. These results reveal a significant disparity between the public's humane ethic and the operating policy of most U.S. animal pounds and shelters.

If you saw a stray cat in your community and could only choose between two courses of action—leaving the cat where it is outside or having the cat caught and then put down—which would you consider to be the more humane option for the cat?

ALTON — The first mission to trap, neuter or spay, inoculate and release feral or community cats in Alton resulted in one livid, "former" tomcat and 10 varmints that got a free meal.

"It's a very large, gray male cat, we called him 'Mr. Angry,'" said Shelly Moore, Metro East Humane Society's community cat program coordinator. That lone feline was about to go into neutering surgery Wednesday at the Metro-East Humane Society, 8495 Illinois Route 143, Edwardsville.

The ownerless, recovering cat went back home to freedom Thursday morning.

The Metro-East Humane Society's, Community Cat Program's "trap-neuter-release" needs volunteers to assist in six main categories:

Trappers —trapping and transporting the cats to their clinic appointments, then returning them the next day to where the cat was found; return-to-field transporters -- who return the cats to their neighborhoods, identify community cats in that vicinity and document and share the information with staff; community educators and mediators -- educate the public, garner support and address opposition to the TNR program and resolve cat-related complaints among neighbors; ambassador and neighborhood canvasser -- distribute educational materials door-to-door, speak to neighbors about importance of spaying and neutering cats and providing low-cost referrals; kitten and had reported as causing problems, she said.

Ten of the traps, though, with generous blobs of gooey, canned cat food inside tempted five surly raccoons and five opossums to venture inside — and have a door slam behind them, locking them in for the night.

With the intense July heat, Moore said the cats apparently stayed in their cool retreats that night.

"We learned a lot, we are going to make some adjustments when we get back out," she said. "When the heat breaks, we hope more cats will come out. We will change our approach, instead of putting the traps out the night before, we will put them out in the morning, wait a few hours and pick them up."

Moore and eight volunteers set out Tuesday evening to prepare and place 25 shiny new animal traps containing the bait by houses on Maurice and Duco streets, just west of Milton Road. Four days prior, volunteers placed large blue and white tags on the front doors of homes in the area informing residents of their trap-neuter-release (TNR) program and schedule.

The tags explain the cats will be sterilized by a veterinarian at MEHS, vaccinated against rabies, micro-chipped, and their left ear cauterized, or "tipped," so it is easy to tell if they are neutered or spayed. The tags also request people keep their cats indoors and not feed strays during the trapping, and to call Moore if they regularly feed feral or community cats.

"We got some cooperation, but we'd like more," Moore said of community cat caretakers, as the group assembled on Maurice. The volunteers wore identifiable, chartreuse T-shirts with a large black cat on the front, its left ear tipped; Moore's shirt was bright pink.

"We have a report of one colony of eight to 10 cats; and at one other location, two to three cats," she said. "But for every one you see, there are three or four others you don't see."

The volunteers removed several of the traps from a MEHS van, carefully folded newspapers, slipped the papers inside and plopped down a big spoonful of pungent cat food. "They smell that food and they are going to go right into it," said Matthew Moore, helping with his mother Shelly's project.

"OK, these are ready to roll," said volunteer Tammy Donahue, who was helping out in Alton despite being from Shipman.

"I'm an animal lover, I hate to see these animals suffer," she said. "They want a kitten, then it grows up and they let it loose. It is sad how they treat them and don't fix them. I wanted to help them (TNR volunteers) do good, I think it is a good thing they are doing. I hope we are successful, that's all we can do."

With Moore writing down each placement location, the TNR crew placed traps by several houses, then moved along. They headed to 3208 Duco, where 75-year-old Judith Kay Littleton died in a fire on June 22, at request of the city. Neighbors had told The Telegraph that Littleton fed a number of stray cats.

The contingent set two traps on the front porch and six more around Littleton's unoccupied, damaged rental home, placing towels on top of each.

Next door neighbor Nick McSwyne popped out of his front door, laughing as he correctly predicted the devices would capture more than felines. He also gave permission for the group to put traps in his yard and that of his daughter, several houses away.

"Good luck catching some cats, if you put food in there, you are going to catch raccoons," he said. "If you catch raccoons, take them someplace else. We have a lot of them around here." The volunteers, though, released the raccoons and opossums at the sites the next morning.

"Mr. Angry" ended up in a trap across the street from the McSwyne-Littleton houses.

For the few residents who seemed interested in the activity, the volunteers explained the TNR program and inquired as to how many feral or community cats they believe live on their street.

The group wrapped up their work in about 40 minutes, dispersing and hoping the traps would draw some cats overnight.

Jean Connoyer and Matt Sadler, both of Alton, said they have four felines and were happy to help. "I'm a crazy cat person," Connoyer said. "We like cats, somebody needs to do this," Sadler said.

Although there are numerous other TNR programs across the country, it is new to Madison County and took 1.5 years to implement in Alton. Aldermen had to OK a 36-month agreement and change ordinance allowing the cats to be released.

"The practice stops breeding cycles and allows for a natural life progression for the cats," MEHS's power point program says. It also claims neutering eliminates annoying feline behavior related to mating, such as fighting, spraying and yowling. Proponents say TNR also is cheaper for taxpayers, since tax dollars do not support the MEHS program. Volunteers man the MEHS program except for Moore.

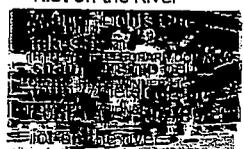

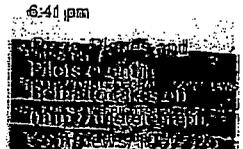

"An individual left money to us when he passed away to begin the program," Anne Schmidt, MEHS executive director, said last month.

Moore said previously it is more costly for animal control officers to trap or pick up stray cats, transport them to Madison County Animal Control in Edwardsville, any feeding or care the animals receive at the facility, and then the euthanasia. "What we want to get out to the community is (taxpayers) 'saving money,'" she said. She said she would like to do the TNR trappings once a month in Alton — even better, twice a month — depending on availability of a veterinarian who can do the surgery or surgeries on short notice.

The community cat program plans to begin a voucher program for people who catch feral felines, get them neutered and release the animals where they were found, to help with the overpopulation.

For more information on TNR in Alton, to volunteer or donate so the program can continue beyond 2018, contact Moore at MEHS: (618) 656-4405 or by email: TNR@mehs.org

The attached family tree is of the feral cats that are home based in and around my yard.

There is another group 1 block over and yet another group 2 blocks over.

As you can see, it doesn't take long for 3 females to over populate a neighborhood. There are 32 cats listed on the tree that survived, 10 that I know died, there are probably 12-20 that Goofy had between 2013 and 2016 that never survived.

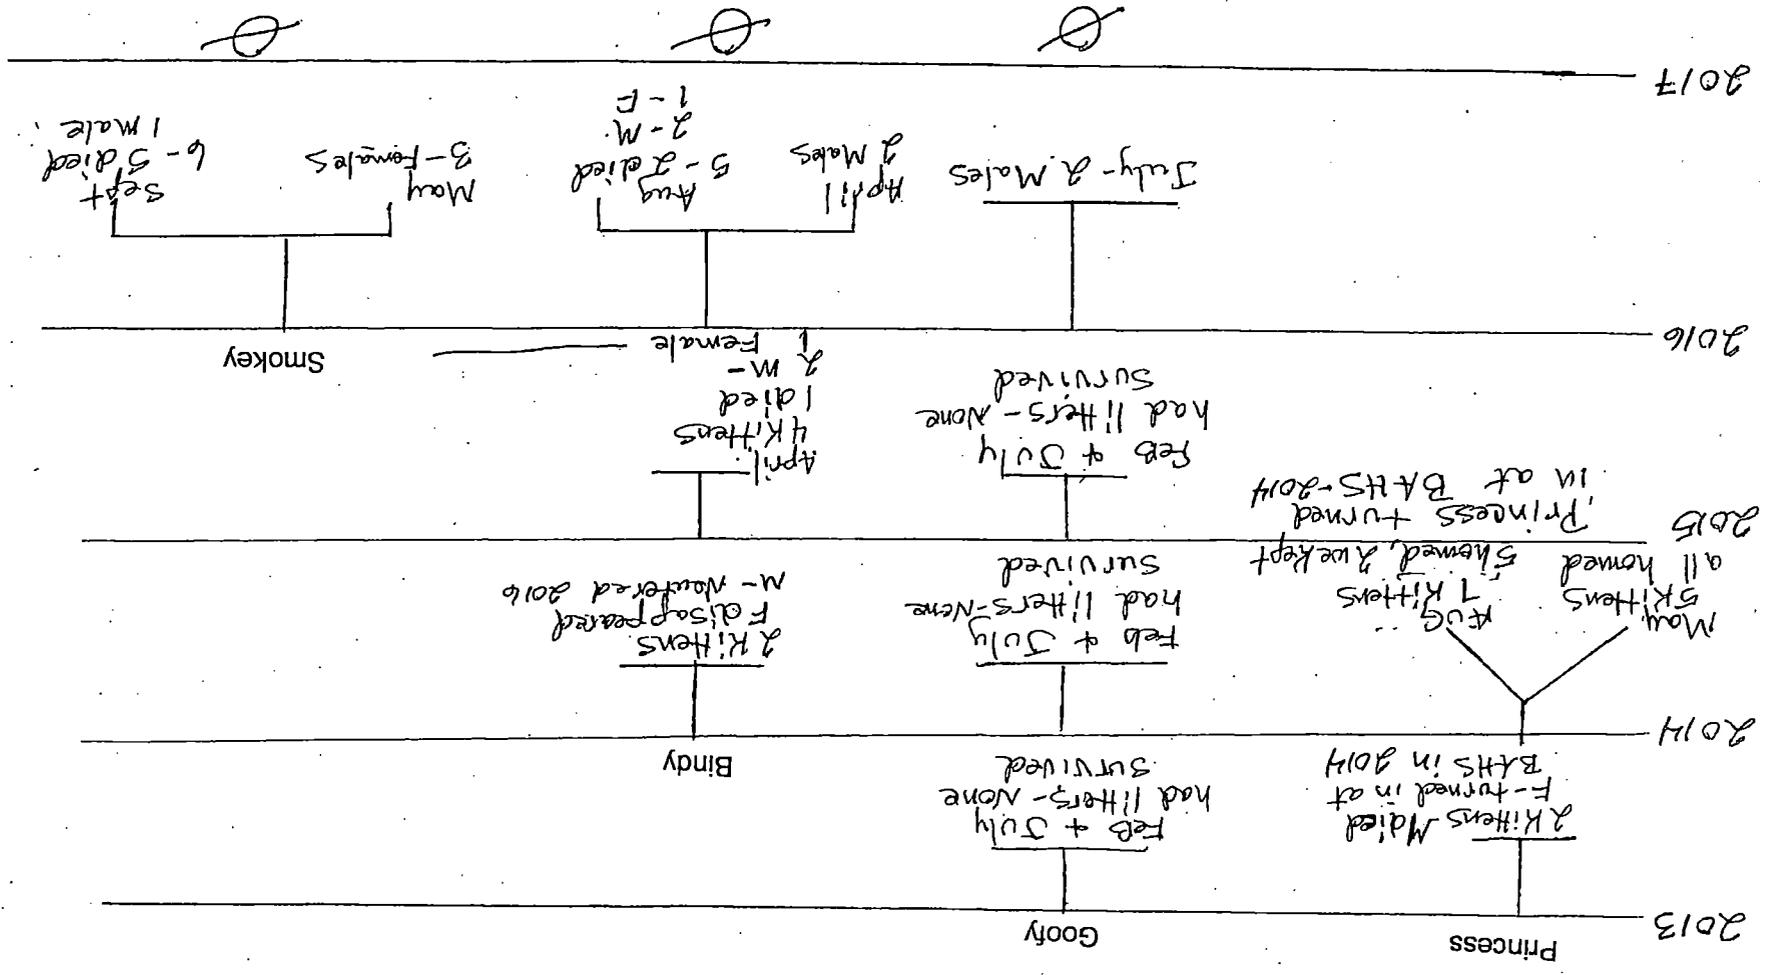

In the fall of 2016 I found 4 Hearts Foundation and started working through them and BAHS to have the group spayed/neutered and ear tipped.

To date, I have had 21 cats fixed – the females listed on the family tree had NO kittens this year, their female kittens from last year had NO kittens this year. If I had not fixed them the potential for kittens this year, using an average of 4 per litter; would have been 24 kittens.

I had 1 very feral female show up in late fall of 2016, she had 4 kittens in April 2017 – none of them survived. I was unable to catch her and she had 7 kittens on July 26th this year. So you can see – it only takes 1 cat to repopulate a neighborhood.

In addition to the females listed on the tree and their kittens there are 4-6 other males that are part of the group – 2 of the large males I had neutered over the winter, they are much more complacent, don't roam and fight like they did the previous years.

I still have several to tame down so I can catch them and have them fixed, it would help if there was a place that would do spay/neuter any day of the week instead of having to try and crate a semi-feral cat on a specific day. My remaining males always seem to know when NOT to show up – ie, Quick Fix Clinic day.

Please verify via email this is still your request and how many benches you are looking to place in the museum. I will then have this placed on the agenda for our next Council meeting for approval by Council.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA***
GREATER ST. LOUIS AREA COUNCIL

November 1, 2017

Belleville City Council:

I am writing the Belleville City Council to gain permission to use Bicentennial Park for a Cub Scout Twilight Camp starting on Monday June 25, 2018- Thursday June 28, 2018 from 4:30pm-8:30pm and we anticipate between 40-60 youth attending this event. The reason for writing this letter is to inquire for permission of the city council to offer program that is against a Belleville city ordinance in shooting a BB guns, Archery, and Sling Shots. A large part of the summer camp experience in all Scout programs is shooting sports. The Boy Scouts of America as a National Organization take all shooting sports activities very seriously and take all safety precautions. In this setting, there will be a marked off area where the shooting sports will be taking place. There will be a shooting line approximately 10 yards away from where there would be shooting at targets with a backdrop to stop all objects. The backdrop will consist of an 8x10 temporarily made wall from 2x4 staked to the ground to stop all shots taken. In addition, there will be an adult ration to 1 adult per 4 kids shooting. All the adults are required to take a 6-hour long course on the safety in shooting sports with all the programs in Scouting.

I worked with Captain Matt Eiskant from the Belleville Police Department and Debbie Belleville Director of the Belleville Parks and Rec to select the best location at this park. Please see the attached map where they recommended for the shooting sports to take place. In addition, we had a meeting with Mayor Mark Eckert to get an overall picture of the goal of this program.

In addition, to shooting sports, we will have two other stations during the night of the program. Please see a sample of the schedule:

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday
5:00-6:00	BB Gun	Archery	Sling Shot	BB
6:00-7:00	Craft	Community Demo	Craft	Game
7:00-8:00	STEM	STEM	STEM	STEM

The extra time will from 4:30-5:00 or 8:00-8:30 will give the volunteer staff the opportunity to set up and cleanup program areas.

The Greater St Louis Area Council recently merged with the Lewis and Clark Council and with the merger it has brought in several opportunities to grow the Scouting program. The new Council is now 51 counties in Missouri and Illinois. We service over 67,000 young people in the program. The St Clair District, which will be the young people attending this camp reaches 2,500 youth and 1300 adult volunteers.

To my knowledge we have not had a Twilight Camp in the city of Belleville. It is one of my goals to grow the Scouting program in the Belleville Community. I grew up in Belleville and was active in Boy Scouts at Jefferson Elementary. I am a Eagle Scout and very excited to working for this program in the school I grew up. I would appreciate the opportunity to have the program at the Bicentennial Park and to have permission to provide shooting sports as part of this program. Please email me with any questions Nicholas.Schubert@scouting.org or call my office 618-207-6433.

Sincerely,

Nicholas A Schubert
