

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Right at Home In Home Care and Assistance Relocates to Belleville

Belleville, Ill. – April 28, 2020 – Right at Home, an in-home care and assistance provider for seniors and disabled adults, has relocated to 5010 W. Main St. in Belleville from its former location in Collinsville.

“We’re excited to welcome this new business to Belleville,” said Mayor Mark Eckert. “It now occupies an otherwise vacant facility, and the company has invested in several improvements at the property.”

Owner Dave Eustis and his team of more than 60 employees moved to the new location because the company was in need of more space.

“The new office is approximately five times larger than our former location and will allow the company to continue to grow,” said Human Resources Generalist Kate Kotler. “It will also provide much needed space to offer ongoing training for field staff.”

She said the new location in West Belleville also provides a more centralized location for them to reach their client base.

“Our clients are located throughout Madison, Monroe and St. Clair counties, so the new building on the west end of Belleville gives us easy access to head either north or south,” said Kotler.

The company also completely renovated the building, which is the former location of the UFCW Local 534 Meat Cutters Union. This includes new windows and carpet, a new HVAC system, new walls, and remodeled bathrooms.

As with many healthcare providers, Right At Home has adapted to providing services to maintain the health and wellness of both its employees and clients during the COVID-19 pandemic.

“Besides constant reminders going out to caregivers informing them about best practices for hand washing and sanitizing, we continue to hunt for personal protective equipment so all our employees can be protected,” said Kotler.

The City of Belleville, Illinois, incorporated in 1814, is the St. Clair County seat and the largest city in southern Illinois. With a current population of 44,478 (2010), Belleville is home to the longest contiguous main street in the United States, excellent education and healthcare organizations, and thriving businesses and neighborhoods, including three National Historic Districts. Mayor Mark Eckert runs the municipal government along with elected officials including City Clerk Jennifer Gain Meyer, Treasurer Dean Hardt, and 16 aldermen representing eight city wards. The vision for the City of Belleville is one where all sectors of the community work together to help the city grow and prosper and to become a model for other communities to follow.

She also said the company is now conducting consultations over the phone and using TeleCare to reach out to field staff to check in and to stay in contact with clients, rather than in-person visits.

To learn more about establishing a business in Belleville, visit www.belleville.net.

###

The City of Belleville, Illinois, incorporated in 1814, is the St. Clair County seat and the largest city in southern Illinois. With a current population of 44,478 (2010), Belleville is home to the longest contiguous main street in the United States, excellent education and healthcare organizations, and thriving businesses and neighborhoods, including three National Historic Districts. Mayor Mark Eckert runs the municipal government along with elected officials including City Clerk Jennifer Gain Meyer, Treasurer Dean Hardt, and 16 aldermen representing eight city wards. The vision for the City of Belleville is one where all sectors of the community work together to help the city grow and prosper and to become a model for other communities to follow.

The City of Belleville, Illinois, incorporated in 1814, is the St. Clair County seat and the largest city in southern Illinois. With a current population of 44,478 (2010), Belleville is home to the longest contiguous main street in the United States, excellent education and healthcare organizations, and thriving businesses and neighborhoods, including three National Historic Districts. Mayor Mark Eckert runs the municipal government along with elected officials including City Clerk Jennifer Gain Meyer, Treasurer Dean Hardt, and 16 aldermen representing eight city wards. The vision for the City of Belleville is one where all sectors of the community work together to help the city grow and prosper and to become a model for other communities to follow.